

Hong Kong Special Administrative Region
of the People's Republic of China

National Security Exhibition Gallery

The National Security Exhibition Gallery is the first thematic gallery in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) dedicated to systematic promotion of national security education. It is also the first national security education base in the HKSAR.

The National Security Exhibition Gallery, with an area of over 1 100 square metres, aims at enhancing visitors' appreciation of the significance of national security, impressing upon all citizens their duties and responsibilities in safeguarding national security, as well as deepening the community's general knowledge and understanding of national security related concepts and issues. Developed around the core of a holistic approach to national security, the Gallery serves to promote patriotism and affection for our country. Messages are conveyed to encourage all citizens to take part in safeguarding national security, and to elevate their sense of responsibility and ownership. The overarching need for long-term security and stability in Hong Kong, and Hong Kong's unique advantages of being backed by the Motherland and connected to the world are emphasised.
